$10,000 PAID TO MINERS.

More Sales of Mineral Rights—A Bright Outlook all Along the Line.

W. G. Harris has returned from north Arkansas mineral field and will again devote his time to this territory.

W. S. Lowery, the mining expert, was in the city Monday. He reports everything moving along nicely in a mining way in his bailiwick.

A vote will be taken at the November election in Newport, Ky., on an issue of $90,000 electric light bonds.

An election has been ordered by the Mason county, Ky. fiscal court to vote on $25,000 of bonds for a new infirmary.

The city of Paducah has awarded a contract to Chas Robertson at $203.45 for the construction of a storm water sewer.

Bids are being received by the city clerk of Ashland, Ky., for $75,000 of 4 per cent. coupon refunding bonds.

T. D. Kingston has a wonderful gem—or pearl—which was found in Meade county, and which has two eyes, which give it a remarkable resemblance to a human face.

Last Saturday was a big pay day here. The Ky. Fluor Spar Co., the Noe Mines, and the Marion Mineral Co. all paid off their employees. Some ten or twelve thousand dollars were paid out.

A large kettle of quicksilver in the Texas exhibit at the St Louis Worlds Fair is constantly surrounded by a crowd of curious observers. A cannon ball floats in the liquid.

It is reported that M B Charles, of Humboldt, Tenn., is making arrangements to organize a new bank at McKenzie, Tenn., with $25,000 capital. Marion is one of boys and was formerly a merchant at Dyousburg.

The National Coal and Coke Co who are operating mines at Uniontown, Ky., has transferred its main office from Indianapolis, Ind., to that city.

The work of improvement at the National Coal and Coke company's mine at Uniontown is near completion. After the work at the shaft is completed a track from the mine to the Ohio river will be built.

Our Gladstone correspondent says:

The Wilson mine has a four-inch vein of cannel coal, which is the only cannel coal we know of, and this is strictly number one coal, and the mine has experienced men running it.

Charles H. Ellis, of Calhoun, Ky., is reported to be organizing a bank at Morganfield, Ky., capital $25,000. John M. Crowe will, it is stated, be president, and Mr. Ellis the cashier. It will be a national bank, and is to begin business Nov 1.

Wallington's new 'bne is a beauty and is up to date in every particular. Dudley is the old, reliable transfer man and is always dependable. Mining men and the traveling public generally will not make any mistake if they patronize him.

The Crittenden Coal and Coke company of Marion, Ky., have lately made some very large contracts for the future delivery of their high grade coal. The output at the mine has been gradually increasing in tonnage until at the present time it is most satisfactory to the management.

State Geologist Norwood, of Kentucky, has been asked to examine a new vein of coal struck last week by accident by the Nortonville Coal Company in Hopkins county. Local reports say that the new vein is apparently of the anthracite order and that the indications are that it underlies the entire property of the Nortonville Coal Co.

The Giles Creek Mining Co has been organized and articles of incorporation were filed here last Friday. The mines will be located at Giles Creek, four miles northeast of this city. The capital stock is $5,000 and may be increased to $20,000 if desired. The incorporators are Messrs T. J. Tate, John T. Prowse, T P Cook, and W T Fowler. The purpose of the company is to mine for lead, zinc, fluor spar, and other minerals. —New Era.

Dr H. Foster Bain and Mr Foster Crider, of the U. S. Geological Survey, in company with Mr. F. Julius Fols, spent several days in the field here last week. They visited a number of the principal mines, investigating the zinc deposits of the district, and studying the problems connected with their genesis, etc. From here, Dr Bain and Mr Crider go to examine the zinc deposits of the Kentucky river district. Mr Fols examined these deposits last April.

We were out at the Hegan mine near Lead Hill, on the first day of the week, and brought back a chunk or specimen richly loaded with fluorine, lead and silver. We found the Cave-in-Rock Mining company pushing things with a veritable rash, and farther found that they were soon to have a young town of their own out there in machinery and stone buildings alone. They certainly have a wonderfully rich prospect in their acquired Barbour heirs claim. —Hardin Era.

Mine developing has become nowadays as much of a practical matter as building up a great commercial business. These days mines are made, developed. A promising prospect is located; prospect work is done, sufficient to demonstrate that a good body of pay ore exists; then work of development begins. This is not the work of a week, a month, or even a year oftentimes. The largest and best mines, it will be found, are the ones that have been most carefully prospected and developed before becoming dividend payers. —Ore News.

Our Emmaus correspondent writes: Tom Meredith has let the Hodge mines out on contract and has taken a contract at the Tabb mines, where he will shortly begin work

Our Carverville correspondent writes:

With the last shipment of machinery the Schoolfield-Spess mines have in running trim two thousand dollars worth of machinery. There has been a good quantity of coal taken from the side shaft but work on this shaft has been abandoned for the present and work on the main shaft resumed. F M Abbot, an expert timberer, of Covington is now here and will remain for several weeks.

W. C. Jones of San Angelo, Texas, claims to have discovered the long lost Spanish silver mine which was said to have been worked about three quarters of a century ago by Spanish monks. The mine is located among the bluffs on Celery creek, which flows into the San Saba river. Mr Jones claims that the mine was hidden by the monks when they were obliged to abandon it, changing the course of the creek so it ran over the opening. Mr Jones gives the credit for the discovery to his partner, Joe Cluff. They expect to make their fortunes by working the mine.

Our New Salem correspondent writes:

Kay Kevil, of Marion, was in this section the past week doing some surveying for some mining men.

Some good sales of mining property the past week; Sam Grimes, we understand, sold his mineral for a neat little sum; this property joins the famous Cullen mines.

We have some of the best mining property around New Salem anywhere in the mineral belt and some time it will be sold, when the price asked is paid, and it will not be long.

The clay hauling is in full blast. How men can haul 2000 pounds 12 miles for $1.50 we fail to see; $2 per ton was low enough; live and let live is our motto.

The New Mexico School of Mines at Socorro has recently added to its equipment for practical training in mining operations the Torrence gold and silver mine, situated in the Socorro mountains, two miles from the college campus. The Torrence district has made a good record, which is as yet very far from completed. Nearly one million dollars has been taken out. The New Mexico School of Mines has endeavored to furnish adequate facilities for students to acquire a detailed knowledge of practical mining by acquiring the above named property, where instruction may be given in accordance with the most advanced ideas.

The first attempt ever made to establish a practical mining laboratory in any educational institution by incorporating an actual working mine, is believed to be that begun in the New Mexico School of Mines.

The future outlook for spar may be difficult to gauge if merely superficial indications are considered, but an encouraging feature is the fact that we are gradually drawing nearer to a revival of business, and the foundation is being laid for great industrial progress. Production of spar is pointed at as large, and it is on an impressive scale, but its growth is restricted by the measure of its capacity. It can not be increased over night, nor in a month, and not even within a year beyond a fixed limit. Consumption does not develop within such accurate and closely defined limits, and under the impetus of certain conditions it may increase in certain localities to leaps and bounds. The trend of events points to greater consumption and the situation will feel the effects of this next year perhaps, more than it does this. Exports may be viewed as an indication of European consumption if not identical with it. If foreign demand holds at present height and domestic consumption increases, the market movement may surprise the trade. While this country is getting ready for better times the objective point to watch is the export movement.

Superintendent Public Works

Of Lexington, Ky., Says:

"Peruna is an Excellent Medicine."

J. H. HIPPLEGATE, Supt. of Public Works, 61 West 6th St., Lexington, Ky., writes:

"I find that Peruna is an excellent medicine especially for catarrhal affections and all diseases leading to consumption, bronchial troubles or stomach troubles. It also acts as a preventative and keeps the system in a healthy condition so that it easily throws off disease. It is an excellent tonic and a great appetizer and as a large number of those who have been using it speak very highly of its curative powers, I am satisfied that my opinion of it is correct, and that it is deserving of high praise."

—J. H. Hipplegate.
Peruna is the remedy for catarrh. Almost everybody knows that by hearsay and thousands know it by experience. Catarrh in its various forms is rapidly becoming a national curse. An undoubted remedy has been discovered by Dr. Hartman. This remedy has been thoroughly tested during the past forty years. Peruna cures catarrh in all phases and stages. There is no remedy that can be substituted.

If you do not desire prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

TERRIBLE TRAGEDY!

William E. Neal Kills His Wife And then Kills Himself.

Louisville Times: Wm. E. Neal under indictment in the Jefferson circuit court for the murder of former Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney James K. Shrader, for alleged criminal intimacy with his wife, shot a woman with whom he was living and killed himself, in his apartments in the boarding house of Mrs. J. G. Baird, at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Merritt O'Neal, who was one of the attorneys for W. E. Neal, positively identified the woman as Mrs. Neal, on whose account Neal killed Shrader.

The couple had been quarreling previous to the shooting, and immediately preceding the fatal shots the woman was heard to run from the room screaming and slam the door. She ran back to her room and again slammed the door after her. The man was following, and as he burst into the room he fired a shot which penetrated her heart. Then he walked to a couch and, tying down, directed a bullet through his own heart.

The dead man left no note or paper of any kind that would throw any light upon the tragedy. A reporter for the Times was the first to identify the man as Neal. The only note of any kind found on Neal's person was addressed to himself and was written by W. W. Burt, a collector for the Fidelity Trust and Safety Vault company. The note asked for a meeting with Neal, and suggested the time and place.

Neal was admitted on bail about six weeks ago after much difficulty in securing bond.

That today's tragedy is the direct result of the Shrader tragedy there can be no question.

Occupants of the house were apprized of the tragedy first by the woman's screams, later followed by the two shots; fired in quick succession. The members of Mrs. Baird's family rushed upstairs but were afraid to enter the room and returned to the first floor to secure assistance. F. E. Montgomery, of Seventh street and Broadway, answered the summons and entered the room. The murdered woman, stretched full length on the floor with the blood streaming from a wound in her breast, was just behind the door. Neal was lying on a couch at the other side of the room, between the windows. His head was turned slightly to the left, as though he was looking through the window when the fatal shot was fired.

The couple came to the residence of Mrs. Baird Sunday afternoon and engaged a room for two days, paying $4 therefor. Neal gave the name of Mr. Johnson. He said the woman was his wife, and that their home was in Nashville.

Mrs. Baird states that the woman met her on the stairway and told her she was going to her home in Nashville to remain three weeks, while her husband completed his business in Louisville. She told Mrs. Baird she had to go out and make some purchases, and did so, remaining uptown about an hour. This was the last ever seen of her alive.

POISONED WATERMELON.

Liberty, Ind., Sept. 9.—A boy is a corpse and his father and mother lie at the point of death as the result of eating a watermelon which it is supposed contained poison.

The dead boy is Ross Blas, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Allie Blas, who live near this place. The parents, it is feared, will die.

The melon was purchased here by Mr. Blas. It had been shipped from a distance. Immediately after eating it father, mother and son became violently ill, and the boy died a short time later.

Whether the melon was deliberately poisoned or the poison was the result of fermentation or decay, has not been definitely ascertained. It is into this question that the coroner will delve when he holds an inquest.

Sour Stomach.

When the quantity of food taken is too large or the quality too rich, sour stomach is likely to follow, and especially so if the digestion has been weakened by constipation. Eat slowly and not too freely of easily digested food. Masticate the food thoroughly. Let five hours elapse between meals, and when you feel a fullness and weight in the region of the stomach after eating take Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and the sour stomach may be avoided. For sale by Woods & Orme.

PANAMA CANAL.

"They tell us that the President does things. That expression would do credit to the Bowery. I believe in doing things, but I believe that if we acquire the bond for a canal we should acquire it honestly. I believe that our good name as a nation is worth more to us than all the ships that will ever pass through the Panama Canal. I believe in the integrity of a canal and voted for the measure that President Roosevelt approved, but it was for the right to construct the canal without over-awing and coercing a weaker nation."—From Senator Bailey's Brooklyn speech.

Everything is in a name when it comes to Witch Hazel Salve. E. C. DeWitt & Co., of Chicago, discovered some years ago how to make a salve from Witch Hazel that is a specific for Piles, For blind, bleeding, itching and protruding Piles, eczema, cuts, burns, lacerations and all skin diseases. DeWitt's Salve has no equal. This has given rise to numerous worthless counterfeits. Ask for DeWitt's—the genuine. Sold by Woods & Orme, Druggists.

Republican Prosperity.

Representative John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi, in a recent speech, declared that the continuation of the Republican party that it was responsible for the prosperity which has attended the labors of American farmers, in recent years, reminded him of a story told by Abraham Lincoln.

Mr. Lincoln said there was a woodpecker away up in the top of a tree pecking, and pecking, and pecking at the tree and after awhile a windstorm came along and blew down the tree and the woodpecker, and the woodpecker believed to its dying day that it had pecked the tree down.

Taking a Drive.

A young man, about nineteen years old, ran off yesterday afternoon with a horse and buggy belonging to Howard Ross and had not been heard of at a late hour last night. The young man, whose name could not be learned, had been loafing around the streets several days past.

About three days ago he was taken sick and went to the Sanatorium. Yesterday, however, he was able to be out and came down town. He sent lawyer J. Steven Powell and requested that he should write to his home, which, he stated, is in Buchanan county, to his relatives and ask them to send him in any amount to reach home. Mr. Powell complied with his request, but in the meantime this unknown, tired, horse and buggy from Howard Ross "just to drive around the streets awhile," he said, until his money arrived. But neither he, buggy nor horse, has been heard of since. The authorities of the neighboring towns were notified of the theft and asked to keep on the lookout. Henderson Gleason.

Catches the Kids.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—A strike of upwards of 200 school children was declared at the Longfellow school today, because the principal had been transferred since the close of the last term. The children say they will not go to school until he comes back.

Later the little "strikers" decided to go back to the school and submit to the rule of the new principal. The end of the strike followed a conference between the mothers of several of the dissatisfied pupils and the new principal.

A WORLD POWER.

"Ours is a world power, and as such it must be maintained, but I deny that it is at all recently that the United States has obtained that eminence. Our country became a world power over a century ago, when, having thrown off foreign dominion in the proper establishment of a free government, the source of whose authority sprang and was continually to proceed, from the will of the people themselves. It grew as a world power as its sturdy citizens, whose natural increase were added immigrants from the old world, seeking to obtain here the liberty and prosperity denied them in their own countries, spread over the face of the land, reduced the prairies and forests to cultivation, built cities, constructed highways, constructed railroads, until now a nation which at the formation of the 'government' numbered only three millions in population has become eighty millions, and from ocean to ocean and the lakes to the gulf the country is the abode of a free and prosperous people, advanced in the highest degree in the learning and arts of civilization. It is the liberty, the advancement and the prosperity of its citizens, not any career of conquest, that make the country a world power. This condition we owe to the bounty of Providence, and to the great natural resources of the country, in the wisdom of our fathers, manifested in the form of government established by them, to the energy, industry, moral character, and law-abiding spirit of the people themselves.—Judge Parker's speech of acceptance.

A Power For Good.

The pills that are potent in their action and pleasant in effect are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. W. S. Philpot, of Albany, Ga., says: "During a bilious attack I took one. Small as it was it did me more good than calomel, laxative or any other pill I ever took and at the same time the effect was pleasant. Little Early Risers are certainly an ideal pill." Sold by Woods & Orme, Druggists.

DEATH OF M. H. JOGGE.

Paducah, Ky., Sept. 7.—Typhoid fever caused the death last night of M. H. Jogge, one of this county's leading citizens, and most successful business men. He was 48 years of age and a member of the Methodist church. He came to this place from Madisonville twenty years ago and by his industry has built up a large business. A widow and eight children survive him.

Miss Nancy Leo Jogge, his oldest daughter, whose engagement to Prof. N. W. Bridges, of Louisville, Tenn., was recently announced, is very low from fever.

COSTLY PIECE OF AMBER.

"This pipe," said the dealer, "is worth $75."

"Why so much?"

"On account of that bug in the mouthpiece."

"By jingo!" said the patron, according to the New York World, and he looked at the pipe carefully. "By jingo, that's a strange bug. How did it get there?"

"It got there," said the dealer, "as I'll get in my paper. This beautiful, clear, hard amber was once a gum that a certain tree distilled. Millions and millions of years ago it stuck, soft and sweet smelling, to a tree's bark. At that time a great part of England had not yet emerged from the ocean. The world was a tropical world, hot and swampy and smoky. Giant ferns grew at the rate of 20 or 30 feet in a night."

"Well, it was in those days that another was distilled. On its trees it gathered in the sun, as pleasant to the eye and to the nostrils as a rose, and the insect of that time would alight on it, it would hold them fast; they would perish. The other would preserve them."

"Another containing insects is found now and then, and it is valuable to scientists, for they may study in an insect life that is extinct. For a million years no fly has existed that is like the fly preserved in the mouthpiece of this pipe."

A Unique Decision.

New York, Sept. 8.—Magistrate Pool has laid down a unique ruling in cases of saloon brawls. Two negroes were brought before him, one having charged the other with disorderly conduct and trying to cut the plaintiff with a razor.

The fight occurred in a saloon, where the negroes had been drinking together. When this was made known the magistrate ruled that "a man can not be disorderly in a saloon," and dismissed the case.

WAGES AND THE TARIFF.

Great interest has been manifested throughout the country in an extremely able dissertation of the relation between the Protective Tariff and the wages of labor made by Mr. Isaac W. Grisoom of Philadelphia, Pa. Mr. Grisoom maintains that "the allegation that either the general wage rate of the nation or the productive power of the wage is increased by any conceivable power of taxation is absurd. The idea that the wealth produced by the labor of the nation can be increased by taxation of American consumers is simply preposterous."

Kills Herself.

Ponkeepsle, Sept. 8.—Mrs H. F. Remmers, on route from Danforth Ill. to Germany with her husband jumped from a New York Central express train today eight miles north of this city and was killed. The coroner says the woman committed suicide. Her husband said she had been acting strangely for several days. The body was carried to this city. She was nearly 80 years old.

More Riots.

Disturbances of strikers are not nearly as grave as an individual disorder of the system. Overwork, loss of sleep, nervous tension will be followed by a collapse, unless a reliable remedy is immediately employed. There's nothing so efficient to cure disorders of the Liver or Kidneys as Electric Bitters. It's a wonderful tonic, and effective nerve and the greatest all around medicine for run down systems. It dispels Nervousness, Rheumatism and Neuralgia and expels Malaria germs. Only 50c, and satisfaction guaranteed by Woods & Orme Druggists.

"STAND PAT" THEORY.

Apropos of the Republican command to "stand pat," Democrats are quoting with approbation the striking summing up of the situation which Representative John Sharp Williams addressed to the Republican majority in Congress just before that body adjourned in the spring. Mr. Williams said:

"Why are you afraid to tell us and the country what you want to do? Why are you afraid to tell the American people how or on what principle you want to revise the tariff? Why are you afraid to tell them to what extent you will revise it? Why do you not explain the phrase 'stand pat'? 'Stand pat' how long? And how far up to the limit and beyond the limit or where? What in the world is the reason that the tariff cannot be revised by its friends now? Is there a single one of you, over there, that is not its friend?"

It Saved His Leg.

Believes Roosevelt Dangerous.

"If I were to select a soldier I would choose the President before any man in public life. If I were to choose a statesman I would select almost any man in public life before the President. As a soldier leading a forlorn charge he would be magnificent. As a statesman administering the affairs of the nation he would be dangerous."—Senator Bailey in his Brooklyn speech.

Salvation of Democracy.

Dunkirk, N. Y., Sept. 8.—This was Democratic Day at the Chautauque County Fair. Prof. Duncan McGreagor, of Pittsburg, was the principal speaker. In closing he said:

"I firmly believe that unless the principles of Democracy which gave her birth are allowed to exercise their God-given functions in this Government, imperialism in time will hurl our Goddess of Liberty from her throne."

8 Cents

Eight cents a pound is what a young woman paid for twelve pounds of flesh.

She was thin and weak and paid one dollar for a bottle of Scott's Emulsion, and by taking regular doses had gained twelve pounds in weight before the bottle was finished.

Eight cents a pound is cheap for such valuable material. Some pay more, some less, some get nothing for their money. You get your money's worth when you buy Scott's Emulsion.

We will send you a little free.

No Chance to Grumble.

Washington, Sept. 8.—The Japanese soldier comes about being as near an impersonal quantity as it is possible," said a leading army officer today. "The authorities in Japan are not troubled by disgruntled members of the army writing home from Montauk Point about ill treatment and bad food, and thus stirring up congressmen to swarm down upon the administration and the war department. The Japanese soldier is allowed to send nothing home in the way of mail, at a card containing no information save that he is well. He is not allowed to tell where he is. Instead of being allowed to write with pen or pencil he affixes his name to the card with a stamp. The cards are taken back to Japan in large packages, and are put into the mail there, so that a card on reaching its destination contains no postmarks to inform the folks at home where the writer is. Altogether the Japanese have handled this problem as successfully as they have dealt with the war correspondent."

Roosevelt and Lynch Law.

"If there are among us men who justify the lawless spirit which sometimes expresses itself in a public lynching they could not find in all the range of English literature a more pointed and complete defense of such conduct than has been furnished by the Republican candidate for the Presidency. Long before the dream of the chief magistracy of this country ever entered his brain he devoted himself to the more pleasant but less pretentious task of writing books and in a work which he calls 'Ranch Life and Hunting Trail' he thus records his approval of the mob:

"During the last two or three years the stockmen have united to put down all these dangerous characters, often by the most summary exercise of lynch law. Bands of horse and cattle thieves have been regularly hunted down and destroyed in pitched fight by parties of armed cowboys, and as a consequence most of our territory is perfectly law abiding."

"It is one of the interesting oddities of the President's mind that he can contemplate with equanimity, a country made 'perfectly law abiding' by the unauthorized and unlawful warfare of the mob against the outlaws. The President then adds, as if relating to a commonplace incident, this mild statement: 'A little over two years ago one committee of vigilantes in Montana shot or hung nearly sixty—not, however, with the best judgment in all cases.'"

"In his work entitled 'Winning of the West,' the President asserts that 'good men in such cases banded themselves together to put down with ruthless severity by the exercise of lynch law the worst off-hand. In many cases of lynch law which have come to my

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For President,
JUDGE ALTON B. PARKER,
Of New York.

For Vice-President,
HON. HENRY G. DAVIS,
Of West Virginia.

For Congress,
OLLIE M. JAMES.

The two armies in Manchuria,--the Russian and Japanese--are now resting, but it is stated that Gen Kuroki is about to resume active operations against Kuropatkin, and will endeavor to crush him before he can concentrate his scattered forces. Meantime the Emperor of Russia declares that so long as a Russian soldier stands alive, or a golden rouble is in the national treasury he will fight the Japanese.

Gov. Beckham seems slow to move about the calling of an extra session of the Legislature. With more than two-thirds of the members of the present Legislature having already expressed their convictions that a new site for the State capitol ought to be chosen, and a large majority of the people of the State evidently in favor of that move, it would seem that the Governor should not hesitate in the matter, unless he has some more cogent reason for not doing so than have yet appeared on the surface. A million dollar building jammed into this little old eight by ten state house yard would look like thirty cents gone to seed.

A friend of the Press asks: "Why is it our people are so nearly unanimous in favoring the Japanese in their fight with the Russians?" We suspect the real reason is that at the beginning of the war every one not posted regarding the Japs as the little dog and the Russian as the big bear; and hence our sympathies went out to the little dog. But that sympathy appears to have been wasted, as the Japs seem fully able to take care of themselves. Another reason is, that Russia had no business in Manchuria, anyway. She got two other Powers to help her run the Japs out of Manchuria, after they had fairly conquered it, and then stole in like a thief and occupied the country, without a shadow of right, either human or divine; and it does seem that whereas they sowed the wind they are now reaping the whirlwind. And serves them right, too.

The Russian auxiliary cruiser Lena steamed into San Francisco bay a few days ago with disabled boilers. She will be allowed to remain just long enough to render her seaworthy. She is being carefully guarded by United States torpedo boats.

Such outrageous and unwar-rantable methods of running a political campaign as were said to have been resorted to in the Hunter-Edwards contest in the Eleventh Kentucky district are without excuse and beyond defense by any fair-minded, honorable gentleman. If, after these revelations the Eleventh sends either Hunter or Edwards to congress it will stultify itself and place a blot on the lower house. It is simply impossible to obtain honor by dishonorable methods, and a position thus obtained is already shorn of its chief value--that of respect and influence. If either Edwards or Hunter were privy to or in any way connected with the frauds alleged to have been perpetrated by their friends in the late primary, neither of them is a fit associate for gentlemen of unblemished integrity and spotless personal honor, such as should be the distinguishing characteristic of every member of the American Congress.

September 8th was a day marked in the annals of the campaign as something out of the common order of procedure. Several hundreds of the Democratic and Independent newspapers of the country were represented by their editors in person and presented to Judge Parker at his residence on the Hudson, "Rosemount." On the part of the editorial delegation the veteran editor of the St. Louis Republic made the opening address and was happily responded to by Judge Parker, who endeavored to impress upon his hearers the importance of laying before the people, by comparison, the gross extravagance of the present administration and the imminent need of reform along this line. This speech of Judge Parker fairly bristled with salient points, and the editors returned to their homes more thoroughly convinced than ever that they had both a candidate and a party well worth fighting for.

"A THING OF BEAUTY."

W. D. Wallingford, our popular liveryman, believes in being up with current events, and in view of the rapid growth, both in numbers and commercial importance, of our city, he decided that old "Black Maria" should be relegated to the bonnyard and something more in accordance with the eternal fitness of things placed on the boards. The result of this line of thought is a really gorgeous affair in the shape of a city omnibus, artistically embellished with paint and gilding, elegantly upholstered and perfectly appointed--a thing of beauty and a perpetual joy. Dudley is a warm personal friend of the Japanese General, Kuroki--in fact the two used to play marbles together when they were little boys--and after the old Japs General gets through thrashing the Russians, Dudley intends

HEALY H. COCHRAN

Stricken with Typhoid Fever,
Passes Away.

No greater or more general sorrow has ever been felt in Marion than that occasioned by the death Saturday night of Healy H. Cochran. To say that he was universally loved does but express the sentiment felt toward him, for he held a warm place in many hearts and numbered his friends by the score. Healy Haynes Cochran was born at Crittenden Springs, in the old hotel, Nov. 21, 1882, and died Sept. 10, 1904, in his twenty-second year. He lived in Marion all his life excepting nine years that the family resided in Illinois, they having moved to this city soon after his birth and lived here all the time excepting as stated above.

Healy was a Christian and joined the Methodist church at this place a year ago when the protracted meeting was in progress. His kindness and devotion to his widowed mother was one of his chief traits of character and it is said that since the death of his father he has never left his mother alone at night, looking first to her comfort, regardless of all social obligations. As a business man and the partner of S. R. Adams in the machine shop, he was always affable and jovial. Indeed it was a pleasure to have him around. The work was never so hard but what Healy was happy.

His loss is irreparable to his loved ones at home but He who doeth all things well will, we trust, heal the wounded and broken hearts, and teach them to bow in humble submission to His will.

The funeral Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock was conducted by Rev. T. V. Joiner, whose remarks were most appropriate and feelingly delivered. The Methodist church and adjoining yards and the streets were all crowded, the attendance was estimated to be the largest ever seen on any similar occasion in Marion.

The remains were laid to rest in the new cemetery Sunday afternoon. The ceremonies were under the direction of Blackwell P., of which he was the chief officer.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Whereas God, in his infinite wisdom has taken from us our dear friend and brother; Healy H. Cochran; therefore he it resolved:

1st. That in his death the members of our order are shocked and saddened at the thought of such irreparable loss to the community, the church, and to our beloved order, of which he was a true and loyal member, and one whom we could ill afford to lose.

2d. That there is left a void in his home, his Sunday school, his church and in his lodge which can not be filled.

3rd. That it is hard to realize that he has been taken from us, yet, while his mortal body has died, his clean, pure, lofty spirit lives and will live forever more.

4th. That we tender his bereaved relatives and friends our sincere sympathy, for we, too, are sorely afflicted, and realizing how entirely inadequate words of sympathy are to comfort his bereaved we commend them to the love and care of our heavenly Father.

5th. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to his family, and that they also be placed in both the Crittenden Springs and Crittenden Record, and spread upon the minutes of our Lodge.

W. H. Clark,

JAMES HITCHCOCK DEAD

James Hitchcock, one of the oldest citizens of this county, died at the home of George Howell, a few miles north of town, Friday of a complication of diseases incident to old age. He had been in feeble health for more than a year.

Mr. Hitchcock was ninety odd years of age and had been a resident of this county for many years. He was one of the pioneer school teachers of the county, having followed that profession until forced out by old age and the advancement of the more modern methods of instruction. He was never married.

A GOOD CATCH.

A paper published in Tokyo, Japan, contains the following curious matrimonial "ad.":

"I am a beautiful woman. My beautiful undulating hair envelops me as a cloud. Supple as a willow is my waist. Soft and brilliant is my visage as the satin of the flowers. I am endowed with wealth sufficient to exonerate through life, hand in hand with my beloved. Were I to meet a gracious lord, kindly, intelligent, well educated and of good taste, I would unite myself with him for life, and later share with him the pleasure of being laid to rest eternal in a tomb of pink marble."

MARRIED IN SHAWNEETOWN

Mr. Walter S. Hutchison, of the city, and Miss May Hale, of Uniontown, were united in marriage Sunday morning at Shawneetown, Ill., in the office of the county clerk. Justice of the Peace W. A. Howell performing the ceremony. The parents of the young lady, who resided in this city, accompanied her to Mr. Hutchison's and, as is usually the case under such circumstances, they resolved to have their way in defiance of parental consent. In order to carry out this resolve, Mr. Hutchison left this city Saturday afternoon for Shawneetown, arriving there early dark. In the company of a friend Miss Hale attended church during an evening service and was met there by Mr. Hutchison. Everything seemed auspicious and after talking the matter over, the two decided to put their resolve into immediate execution. Presenting an arrangement they started for Shawneetown, and meeting with no serious obstacle, they reached that city in due time.

The bride is a handsome young lady and a quite perfect beauty. The bridegroom, who is a native of this city, is a few months away from being a printer by profession, having a good position in this office.

SENTENCED TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

The Marshall of Fayetteville, W. Va., who killed John Deas, last winter was sentenced to the penitentiary twenty-five years. The evidence showed that it was an unprovoked murder. After the jury was secured and the commonwealth stated what it would prove. The defendant pled guilty and then turned himself on the mercy of the court. The jury was then dismissed and the judge read out the case as stated above.

Struck by Lightning.

During the thunder storm Tuesday evening light struck the new residence of T. M. Wright on West Depot street, making a hole in the roof and otherwise damaging the building. Dark Days and Bright.

A STORY IN VERSE.

Written for THE PRESS by Robert C. Haynes.

1. bright days of June had come,
The flowers were all a-bloom.
The birds sang among the trees,
But I was wrapped in gloom.

With mournful steps I left the house,
Walked slowly through the gate,
Then down the lane I took my way,
Headless as to my fate.

Down hill and up, by field and wood,
I took my mournful way,
Not caring where my footsteps led,
Or I perchance might stray.

Not knowing why—perhaps 'twas fate—
I reached a spot and took
A seat upon a rustic bench,
Down in a shady nook.

'Twas here that I had often sat
With Bertine by my side—
Sweet Bertine, whom I loved and hoped
That she might be my bride.

The days had seem'd so bright and short,
So full of hope and life;
But all had chang'd, and Bertine soon
Would be another's wife.

I could not blame Bertine or this,
For jolly Joe Maghure
Was young and popular and rich,
I, thirty-five and poor.

"And yet," I mused, "how hard it is
To give her up to Joe,
My sweet Bertine!—more dear than life!
And yet it must be so.

"I'm left, and that's the truth of it.
One thing, I will not stay
To see them wed—I'll hie me off—
Just take myself away.

"I'll board a train and disappear—
A balm for such mishaps—
And if Port Arthur does not fall,
I'll go and help the Japs!"

My musings here were broken off:
Some one was coming near—
The soft tones of a merry voice
Distinctly I could hear.

I looked around, and down the hill,
Emerging from between
The thick boughs that o'erhung the path
Above me was—Bertine!

More charming too, she seem'd to me,
And as she tripped along,
Unconscious of my presence there
She hummed a favorite song.

Some how I could not let her pass
Without one word, and so
As she was passing near my seat,
I gruffly cried, "Hello!"

I soon regretted what I did:
For Bertine gazed with fear
This way and that, then, turning back,
Fled like frightened deer!

"Bertine!" I cried, a-bounding up:
"Bertine! 'tis only I,
And not a ghost or highwayman,
And so why need you hie?"

"Tom Muggleby! You mean old thing!"
She panted, out of breath;
"Oh, my! That grave-yard voice of yours
It frightened me to death!"

"I'm sure I meant not to frighten,
And I your pardon crave:
Temptation, too, was very strong—
Besides, I thought you brave."

"Yes, brave like Thomas Muggleby,
Who's brave enough for two;
But you are five-and-thirty, Tom,
When I'm as old as you—"

"Oh, don't predict so far ahead,"
Said I; "what is to be—
But, Bertine, don't stand up like that!
Come share this seat with me."

DIVIDED DRINKS.

People on South Third street witnessed a funny incident the other day, says the Paducah Sun.

An old man and his wife, who seemed to be from the country, stumbled along and peered into each doorway until they came to a saloon. The old man ducked inside and the old lady drew herself close to the screen doors that obscured the bar. Presently he emerged with a glass of beer.

He took a sip and handed it to her and she took one. They stood there in the doorway in full view of passers by and drank their beer out of the same glass.

When they got to the fountain the thirst did not seem to be slaked and the old fellow called for a glass of ice water.

The indulgent bartender took them one of the large size, well supplied with cracked ice, and after they had drunk that as they did the beer, they took turns about taking the ice out and eating it. They crunched on it until the last piece was gone, and

An Animal Story For Little Folks

Little Jim Bear

Little Jim Bear had a kind father and a kind mother, and they always taught him to be good, to take care of himself and to keep out of the way of gunners. They gave him a good home, too, but in spite of all this early training he wanted to see the world.

"I shall go where there are no gunners," said he as he left his father's roof. He traveled and traveled until he came to a great field, in the center of which was a sign, and it read: "Notice! No bear hunting!"

JIM READ THE SIGN.

"Ah, ha!" said Jim. "This is the place for me. I shall be safe here."

And then he curled himself up and lay down to sleep. I do not know whether he slept an hour, a day or a week, but when he awoke the barking of dogs could be heard on every side, and Jim, raising his head, saw hunters coming rapidly in his direction.

"See here!" cried Jim. "Can't you read? Look at that sign over there. 'No bear hunting!'"

And what do you suppose Jim got for an answer?

Why, one of the hunters raised his rifle to his shoulder and sent a bullet through the little bear's heart. And Jim did not have a chance to think how foolish he had been to disobey his parents and leave his home. That is the sad tale of Little Jim Bear—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

What Greedy Got

Greedy was a strange creature. In the first place he was the only one of thirteen eggs that old Mrs. Speckle was able to hatch.

To say he was ugly would be but poorly to express it.

His head was like a duck, for he was at first a duck's egg. But his tail was wonderfully like Mrs. Speckle's. His feet were like paddles on a steamboat, and his appetite was enormous. His poor mother did so much scratching in the garden to satisfy his greed that they shut her up in a coop.

"See what you have brought me to by your greediness," said his poor mother.

POOR BILL GAVE UP THE CHASE.

But he only grinned and gobbled all the corn placed before his mother's coop.

"You needn't scold," he cried. "You brought me here with my appetite and I must eat."

"But please be careful," she answered anxiously. "One day you eat Paris green and nearly die, another you fill yourself with pebbles, another—"

But just then along came little Bill. He had a pleased expression on his face, for in his hand he carried a brand new watch, given him for his birthday.

In a moment Greedy saw it.

"It looks like crackers," he squawked. "I shall get it if I can!"

Bill put the watch proudly in his belt, and just as he did so spied Mrs. Speckle in the coop. Lending over to scratch her topknot, the watch dropped out. In an instant Greedy was at it. He opened his great flat beak, took it in and started on a run. Bill saw him and gave chase.

"Drop it! Drop it! You horrid thing!" he cried.

"Not if I know it," squawked Greedy, paddling along.

Poor Bill gave up the chase and sat down to cry, while Greedy in the quiet seclusion of the meadow grass began to eat the watch. It was one of the "dollar" type.

"Not much give to it," he grunted. But just then he met his doom, as his mother had said he would, for the watch spring suddenly broke loose and went off with a terrible bang. Whirr-r-r-r!

Greedy's head went with it. His paddle feet gave a few kicks, his tail a few feeble—

Try for Health

222 South Fourth St., Chicago, Ill., Oct. 7, 1902.

Eight months ago I was so ill that I was compelled to lie or sit down nearly all the time. My stomach was so weak and upset that I could keep nothing on it and I vomited frequently. I could not urinate without great pain and I coughed so much that my throat and lungs were raw and sore. The doctors pronounced it Bright's disease and others said it was consumption. It mattered little to me what they called it and I had no desire to live. A sister visited me from St. Louis and asked me if I had ever tried Wine of Cardui. I told her I had not and she bought a bottle. I believe that it saved my life. I believe many women could save much suffering if they but knew of its value.

George Dunder

Don't you want freedom from pain? Take Wine of Cardui and make one supreme effort to be well. You do not need to be a weak, helpless sufferer. You can have a woman's health and do a woman's work in life. Why not secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist today?
